June is time to celebrate!

World Quality Month may not be until November but June is when I celebrate Quality.

June is my birthday month. I have always loved having a late Spring/early Summer birthday. The weather is beautiful with warm days and cool evenings. There is so much to celebrate this time of year: Father's Day, the end of the school year (where I live), graduations, proms, the beginning of summer vacation season, and more. It marks half the year is gone and the other half of the year is just beginning.

This is the time to review your Quality Management System. A time to check your internal audit schedule, a time to review your open Corrective Actions, and a time to host your management Reviews so you can remain on schedule and achieve your quality objectives.

Are you behind on your audits, corrective actions, or Management Reviews? Call us at 902-434-9003 or click to email here, we can help

Advice from a Galaxy Far, Far Away

"Our actions are a reflection of our purpose" – Qui-Gon Jinn

Turn off Autopilot:

Dig yourself out of the audit rut – change the idea of "that's how we always audited that" mentality, break the repetition, make a new checklist, ask new questions, and audit new people.

Change up your audit style to gain new insight as you achieve your audit objective.

Canadians at the 2022 World Conference on Quality & Improvement

Who goes to the ASQ World Conference on Quality and Improvement? Well, Canadians of course!

I can say from experience, that while you are attending World Conference there is so much to learn and so much to do, and often you are even surprised by whom you may bump into!

Here from left to right: Judi Clark from Graybar Canada (Halifax) and Denis Devos from Devos Associates (London) and myself as we "shut down" the Conference Gala in Anaheim! It was great to see so many friends again!

DID YOU MISS IT?

Couldn't make it to ASQ World Conference in Anaheim?

Plan ahead to attend WCQI in
Philadelphia May 8-10, 2023.
You can be a reviewer or moderator!
